jocelyn albertson

Her desire to empower birthing women and passion for all things to do with birth has led her to be a highly recommended doula in her area. She strongly believes in the transformative power of birth and in a woman's innate ability to birth her baby in the way that feels right to her. She believes it is important to support and honor the choices a mother makes as well as act as a resource and provide the information she needs to make informed choices about her care.

Jocelyn has been a certified birth doula through DONA International since 2013. She recently achieved certification in childbirth education with Lamaze International. She is also Rebozo-certified. She is currently certifying with ProDoula in postpartum doula care. Jocelyn has extensive knowledge and expertise in the areas of pregnancy, birth and breastfeeding. Jocelyn lives in Duxbury, Massachusetts with her husband Neil, 2 daughters (4 and 1) and their 2 dogs.

lindsey miller

From a very young age she desired a career in midwifery and thus began her studies in nursing. Her nursing role led her to different paths including trauma and the operating room, but the desire to provide exceptional care to new families and newborns was unshakable. Lindsay wanted to provide continuous encouragement and support and began her studies towards becoming a doula and birth educator.

Lindsay has an undeniable respect for women, families and the choices they are entitled to. She cares for all types of families as a whole, and is knowledgeable, compassionate, cheerful, and intuitive. Lindsay's work helps the family advocate for themselves and brings peace to pregnancy, birth, and parenthood. She has additional experience with single mothers, complications in pregnancy/birth, IVF, hypnobirthing, cesarean births, and breastfeeding.

erica reilly

A birth doula for 6 years and certified through DONA, Erica will work in any setting, but has mostly been in the hospital environment. She works north and south of Boston, with first time parents, third time parents, VBACs, hypnobirthers, and natural and medicated births. She became passionate about becoming a doula after a personal difficult birth experience with her first child. I know there is a need for this type of support and was determined to make sure women and families were supported. I enjoy working with parents prenatally and postpartum, it's amazing to be part of this dynamic.
